

Integration courses for young adults

Modular integration course

People that are new in Switzerland need to learn German. However, it is just as important for them to receive the necessary support in managing everyday tasks and to cope with the cultural challenges of their new home. That is what our integration course aims to do. The different modules can be combined to fulfil the participants' needs.

Goal	Participants in this integration course receive intensive German practice, while at the same time they improve their skills in mathematics and/or computer usage and obtain their ECDL Base certificate.
